Radical Love: Seek What is Best

Scripture: Jonah 2:1-2

Then Jonah prayed to the Lord his God from the stomach of the fish, and he said, " I called out of my distress to the Lord and He answered me. I cried for help from the depth of Sheol; You heard my voice."

PRACTICE RADICAL LOVE.

To practice radical love to those who love us is normal. (Luke 6:32-33) But God call us to love those who are not easy to love, including our enemies; to do good to those who hate us; to bless those who curse us; and to pray for those who mistreat us (v 27-28). Now, this is a revolutionary calling. This is Radical Love.

In giving a new commandment to His disciples, Jesus raised the standards of what it means to truly love people – His own love for the world (John 13:34-35). If we practice this revolutionary kind of love, our lives will never be the same again. For if we love each other as Jesus did, we will not cheat, we will not gossip or take advantage of people. Because radical love is other-centered and not self-centered, we will not be selfish but instead be happy for others.

The best way to evangelize the world is to love one another. Peopler are brought to Christ many times because of the loving relationships of His followers.

"Love is not affectionate feeling, but a steady wish for the loved person's ultimate good as far as it can be obtained."
- C.S. Lewis

Love may involve affection but it is not just an affection. It is more than that. It is a commitment towards imperfect people to seek what is best for them. Radical love seeks not what is comfortable, expedient or popular, it seeks what is best. Sometimes this kind of love will compel us to say no.

In chapter 2 of the book of Jonah, God showed that while His radical love seeks what is best for us, it can also be tough at times. More so, it shows that His radical love always listens and it transforms those touched by it.

TOUGH LOVE.

Jonah tried to flee from God's mission for him but God would not allow it. (Jonah 1:3) He sent a storm in the middle of the sea and scared the sailors. God used them to throw Jonah into the water.

The God appointed a great fish to swallow Jonah for three days and three nights (Jonah 1:17). He was in deep anguish to the point of death inside the belly of the fish. At this point, he cried out to God for help (Jonah 2:2-6).

Death has a way of altering our values. When face to face with death like Jonah, our priorities change. All of a sudden petty things and arguments no longer matter to us. God's love can be tough. He can use trials, problems and even a near-death experience to wake us up (Proverbs 3:11-12).

Tough love can sometimes be God allowing us to discover the consequence of the actions we insisted on taking just like what happened to the prodigal son in the Bible ( Luke 15:16-20). We may run away from God but it will not be successful if we belong to the Lord. God's love pursues.

This tells us that true love can be tough at times. God allows trials because through them He develops our character. His love is not pampering, it is perfecting. This is the nature of God's love, it is tough because it is after our best interest.

ALWAYS LISTENS

Notice that when Jonah cried out and called unto God in his distress, God answered (Jonah 2:2). Yes, God's love is tough, but the good news is He always listens.

Radical love always listens. God always has the time to listen to us no matter how often and how far we run away from Him, The moment we humble ourselves and turn to Him, He is always ready to listen. He will never give up on us.

TRANSFORMING

Jonah, amidst his distressful situation, discovered that the root cause of sin is idolatry (Jonah 2:8). Anything that takes the place of God in our life is an idol. Idols can be money, other material things, relationships or even our self.

But idols are not always physical. In the case of Jonah, it is something that lurks deep in the heart – his own self-will. Inside the belly of the fish, Jonah realized that his idol is himself. How about us, how do we discover our idols>

First we must admit that we have an idol. Believe it or not, all of us have idols. One author once said that the process of a Christian life is breaking one idol at a time.

As soon as Jonah admitted his sin to God, his perspective began to change (Jonah 2:9). He came into his senses. He remembered his vow to God.

Sometimes, we also make vows to God but like Jonah we also tend to forget them. Thankfully God is patient with us and never gives up on us. We are given second chances to go back to Him (Jonah 3:1-2).

Have you made promises to God which you have forgotten? Do not wait until you find yourself in the stomach of the fish before you come back to God. Do not settle for anything good, seek what is best!

APPLICATION:

Patiently listen as God reveals where you can apply the passage's lesson in your life. Write down specific action points to what He has revealed to you.

1. Is there any member of your family or dgroup who is running away from God?
2. How can you help your family or Dgroup member turn back to God?
3. What is the most difficult part of applying this message to your family or Dgroup members – tough love, active listening or transformation?

PRAYERS:

Lift all the things that you learned back to God. Share your thoughts to Him. If He is impressing a sin in your life, confess it to Him. He is always ready to forgive.
